Radioplayer cross-platform applications

Over the past year, Kineton has continued its collaboration with Radioplayer by creating version 8 of the namesake application. The new v.8 features a completely revamped user interface and user experience, adding modernity and freshness to the look and feel of the entire user experience.

In addition to mobile devices for the most popular operating systems, Kineton has also added connected TV devices such as Samsung, LG, Android TV, Fire TV and Sky STBs, which will soon be reached by the new version of the application. Prominent among the improved features is Device Synchronisation, a mode by which all of the user's devices are synchronised in settings, songs listened to and those that can be resumed from the last point at which they were paused.

All these features are available without having to go through the authentication procedure.
